Specification

The examiner has not checked the specification to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors (grammatical, typographical and idiomatic). Cooperation of the applicant(s) is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant(s) may become aware of in the specification, in the claims and in any future amendment(s) that applicant(s) may file.

Applicant(s) is also requested to complete the status of any copending applications referred to in the specification by their Attorney Docket Number or Application Serial Number, if any.

The status of the parent application(s) and/or any other application(s) cross-referenced to this application, if any, should be updated in a timely manner.

Oath

The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration is defective because:
Non-initialed and/or non-dated alterations have been made to the oath or declaration. See 37 CFR 1.52(c).

Election/Restriction

Applicant's election of Group I in the reply filed on July 2, 2007 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1755

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,780,701 to Kaska et al. in view of US 6,358,486 to Shan et al.

The instantly claimed invention is directed to a catalyst composition comprising an organometallic complex material supported on an inorganic oxide support material.

Kaska et al. disclose catalytic organometallic materials that read on the organometallic pincer complex materials claimed in the instant application. The difference between the Kaska et al. disclosure and the instantly claimed invention is the failure to teach a support material. See particularly columns 4-9 and the examples.

Shan et al. are relied on for the disclosure of inorganic support materials containing mesoporosity, substantially the same support material as claimed in the instant application.

It would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to employ a homogeneous catalyst such as the organometallic complex of Kaska et al. on the support material of Shan et al. to arrive at the instantly claimed invention because the skilled artisan would have been motivated by the obvious benefits associated with the use of support materials, for example, increased surface area for catalysis due to the porosity of the support material and ease of recovery and reuse of the catalyst. See particularly columns 3-6.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional prior art is considered cumulative to that applied hereinabove.

Art Unit: 1755

Applicants are advised that any evidence to be provided under 37 CFR 1.131 or 1.132 and any amendments to the claims and specification should be submitted prior to final rejection to be considered timely. It is anticipated that the next office action will be a final rejection.
